Natasja Rupesinghe is a Max Weber Fellow and Part-Time Assistant Professor in Qualitative Methods at the European University Institute. She is also a Fellow at the Centre on Armed Groups, based in Geneva. She obtained her DPhil in International Relations from Nuffield College, University of Oxford, in 2024. Previously, she was a PhD Fellow at the Norwegian Institute of International Affairs (NUPI). Her research focuses on civil war, political violence and peace-building, with a particular interest in local dynamics of violence, civilian agency, action and behaviour in contemporary war zones. She has conducted fieldwork in Mali, Sri Lanka, Ethiopia and Somalia.
